LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

We desire to procure the services of a local agent in every Postoffice District in the State. Will our friends act, or procure the services of some efficient person in our behalf? Believing that the circulation of the Democrat may be materially extended, we make this appeal to our friends in its behalf.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE THE HON. NATH. WOLFE AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST ELECTION.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That any citizen of this State who shall enter into the service of the so-called Confederate States, in any capacity, shall be deemed to be a traitor to the service of the so-called Provisional Government of Kentucky, in either a civil or military capacity; or having heretofore entered such service of either of the Confederate States or Provisional Government, shall consider himself a traitor to the State of Kentucky, or shall take up or continue in arms against the military forces of the United States, or of State of Kentucky; or shall give voluntary aid and assistance to those in arms against said forces, or shall be found to have sold himself, and shall no longer be a citizen of Kentucky, nor shall he again be a citizen, except by permission of the Legislature, by a general or special statute.

SECTION 2. Any citizen of this State, or of any other state, or of any territory, or of the District of Columbia, who is called on to exercise any of the constitutional or legal rights and privileges belonging only to citizens of Kentucky, he may be required to negative on oath the expatriation provided in the first section of this act; and upon his failure or refusal to do so, shall not be permitted to exercise any such right or privilege.

SECTION 3. This act to be of force in thirty days from and after its passage.

This is a law of the State, passed by the Legislature elected in 1861. Its provisions are plain, and, moreover, they are just. The man who takes up arms against this State, or against the United States, ought not to expect to vote in this Commonwealth. He resorts to arms for his rights, and has no right to the ballot-box in a State he is fighting against. If he has committed the crime, he should be content not to vote until the State forgives the sin.

But we held the law unconstitutional and voted against it. The Constitution of Kentucky defines who are voters. It gives the qualifications, and the Legislature can't add one or take one away.

The Constitution says:

First—A man must be a free white male "citizen," twenty one years of age.

Second—He must have resided in the State one year, or in the county, town or city in which he offers to vote.

Having these qualifications, the Constitution says "he shall be a voter."

The word citizen in the Constitution means, evidently, a citizen of the United States. It has been so held uniformly, otherwise a mere resident might vote; for there is no prohibition except in this clause. In fact, if it held to mean a citizen of Kentucky, it comes to the same thing; for a citizen of Kentucky is only a citizen of the United States residing in Kentucky.

No act of our Legislature can deprive a man of his citizenship in the United States. If a man be a citizen by birth or naturalization, no law of this State can change his status. It is out of the reach of any State law. Now, a free white man, twenty-one years of age, offers to vote. He can show the residence required by the Constitution, and he is a citizen. The Constitution says he shall be a voter; how can the Legislature say he shall not?

The conditions of a right to vote are fixed in the organic laws, and it would not do to allow the Legislature to interfere with them, except where the right is expressly given. In our Constitution it is provided that "laws shall be made to exclude from office and from suffrage those who may thereby be corrupted of bribery, perjury, forgery, or other crimes and high misdemeanors."

This power gives to the Legislature, and it is all the power given, does not meet the case. We, therefore, believe the law unconstitutional when it passed, and see no reason to change that opinion.

The reports come to us through French sources that Puebla has been taken. As we have very little faith in the telegraph or in one-sided reports, we suspend our opinion of their reality. It is true it is important news. No one can doubt that the Mexicans are fighting our battles in that country. If France gets a foothold in Mexico, it can result in nothing beneficial to this country in any contingency. It throws a principle that has for half a century been considered fixed in this country, that no European power shall be allowed to acquire a foothold on this continent beyond what they already have.

In connection with this, we may call attention to a speech of Major-General Lindsey, who comes to Canada to take command of the British forces there.

He stated the circumstances under which he took command of the troops in Canada, and been offered to him. He did not think he was wrong in expressing a hope that no collision would occur between this country and the Federal States. If it did occur, the Federal forces would not be able to raise the blockade, and the introduction of the slaves into the country, the army of the South would be compelled to retreat from what they consider the honor of the country. If they had to carry out a war the people might depend upon it, it would be done with all possible vigor.

But there were higher considerations. The Canadians, who were in the army of the South, would rise as one man.

Soldiers, however, were not made in a day, and any colony wishing to defend its liberty must have a force ready to meet the army of the South. This was not yet the case in Canada; but he trusted it would soon be. In conclusion, General Lindsey made the company farewell, and sat down amid loud cheering.

To the point of pointing out the advantages of a war with this country, is anything but favorable. It needs no great wisdom to see that France intruded in the South and Great Britain in the North, would be highly injurious to us, either in peace or war.

The movements of General Burnside indicate that the counties of this State bordering on the Cumberland river are to expect some protection at least. They have been overrun, plundered and robbed, at the pleasure of the rebels; and, although they have furnished many men to the Union armies, there, perhaps, many other counties in the State, their homes and firesides have been constantly exposed to rebel marauders. Kentucky herself has not done her duty to these people. In common with East Tennessee, they have suffered constant privations, when they ought to have been protected long ago. We hope they will see better times hereafter.

In these times, it being a purer age, we are wiser than Hotspur replied to Glendower's boast, that he could call spirits from the vasty deep, that so could he, or so could any man; but will they come? Hotspur was not a spiritualist, and did not even have patience with others who were, since his only excuse was, when rebuked by his treatment of the Welsh Prince:

"I cannot choose. Sometimes he angers me Withthelme me of the moldwarp and the ant; Of the damsel Merlin, and his prophecies."

CITY NEWS.

Colonel Marc Mundy, Commandant of this Post, has rooms at the Louisville Hotel, where strangers going South, arriving after office hours, and entitled to passes, may obtain them at seven o'clock A.M., in time to take the morning trains. No passes, however, will be given by the Commandant of the Post at his hotel to others that those arriving after office hours.

We visited the scene of the late disaster on Sixth street, yesterday. Workmen are engaged in removing the corn and oats, besides the rubbish, which is scattered in all directions. We are fearful that the loss of life is more than was at first supposed. We learned that there were at least thirty-five men in and about the ill-fated building at the time it fell. Some were inside the building and a few were in the alley loading a wagon. As the roll-book is covered up in the ruins, it may be impossible to give the names of all the killed, wounded and missing.

Patrick Walsh, who was in the building, was taken out alive Tuesday night, but died a short time afterwards. It is remarkably strange to think how he had lived as long as he did. There was not a bone in his body that was not broken—both legs and one arm were also crushed badly, and his breast was horribly bruised, and yet he was unconscious of his fate, and said, before he died, he was not hurt. He leaves a wife and five small children. Another man named Meagher was taken out Tuesday night—dead. His head was horribly bruised.

It is known that there is one more killed beneath the ruins, and it is supposed that there were several others who could not have possibly escaped, now lying under the rubbish in the alley. There were eight or ten crippled badly—one a driver of Mr. Simon's wagon, who had his leg broken and was otherwise injured. It is thought he cannot recover. The report that a woman and child were killed while at the pump is untrue. As soon as the roll-book can be found, we will endeavor to ascertain the full particulars of the sad accident. The house was crowded with forage for Government use; in fact, too much for a house like the one which gave way and caused such loss of life and destruction of property.

A CHECKER CHECKED.—A few days ago a handsome specimen of the genus homo—Young America—a suit of good clothes, moustache and whalebone cane, who belonged to the name of Wood, put up at the Gal Hotel. He was suspected there, and went to the Louisville Hotel, where, in a short time, he succeeded in borrowing ten dollars from Mr. Phil Judge, giving him a check on one of our city banks for the amount. Phil Judge it was all right, until he presented his check. Wood also hired a hack and paid the hackman by giving him a check. Tuesday evening Carter Tiller put a check to his proceedings by arresting the fast young man and putting him in jail. His right name is Charlie Ward.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Wednesday, June 3—Albert C. Wurd, charged with obtaining $10 by false pretenses from Philip Judge; continued.

M. S. Taylor, charged with stealing two horses from Beckley & Thomas, at Danville; continued until to-morrow.

Geo. W. Deman, drunk and disorderly conducted; discharged.

If there are any unfortunate men who have been killed by the falling of the forge warehouse on Sixth street, and who still remain under the ruins, why is it that their bodies are not sought for, instead of neglecting the poor unfortunate beings and a few men kept engaged in weighing and shipping by the sack the oats and corn that lies, perhaps, upon their mangled bodies?

ARRIVAL OF EXCHANGED PRISONERS.—The steamer Swallow arrived from above yesterday, with about 800 Federal officers and soldiers, who have been duly exchanged at Camp Chase, Ohio, and will all immediately report to their regiments. They represent 114 regiments, and look fat and hearty.

Yesterday a hackman in the lower part of the city was hitching up his horses to the hack, when a little boy with a tin pan frightened them, which caused them to run away. One of the horses fell on the corner of Sixteenth and Grayson streets and broke his leg.

TO HOSPITAL SURGEONS OR STEWARDS.—We will take pleasure in publishing the reports of the different hospitals in this city—the arrivals and departures, &c.—if they are furnished us by the clerks or stewards. For example, see report of Hospital No. 10 in to-day's paper.

There was but very little doing in military circles yesterday. We did not hear of a single arrest, or of any one being released from the military prison. There is first-rate order in the city at present among officers and soldiers, and we are glad to notice the fact.

Rev. Henry Weller, Chaplain of the Eighty-seventh Indiana infantry, reported to Col. Mundy on Tuesday, and went South to join his regiment yesterday. The name and regiment were misspelled in our yesterday's issue.

The enrolling officers commenced work yesterday. Several young gentlemen of this city began to look very pale and trembling. Boys, now is the winter of your discontent. Don't avoid the draft. It's healthy.

We learn that one of the enrolling officers went to a house on the levee, a day or two ago, and was handsomely repulsed by a big double-faced Irish woman, who put him out.

Taylor, who was arrested by Officer Priest, was before the Police Court yesterday. He is charged with stealing two horses from Messrs. Beckley & Thomas, of Danville. The case was continued until to-day.

Two young gentlemen were relieved of their watches and chains at Wood's Theater on Monday night. Pickpockets are about to make another successful raid upon the city.

One of the unfortunate men who was killed by the falling of the forge-house, had run into the building to escape an enrolling officer, who was next door enrolling men.

A man named Andy Hulain, living on Franklin street, up town, was arrested yesterday for having a lot of rebel clothing in his possession.

About two or three screw profilers at the wharf yesterday. They were laden with forage for the Government.

James Fuller, of this city, who was arrested, a few days ago on a charge of felony, has been honorably discharged.

Col. Marc Mundy's headquarters have been removed to the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets.

There will be a large sale of city property in Jeffersonville, Ind., on Saturday morning next.

Mr. E. S. Pierce has our thanks for DERELICTION.—Night before last, about six o'clock, a building fell, engulfing a considerable number of persons, entombing the living and the dead. How many were in the building is not known, nor how many yet alive may be under the rubbish. The evening after the disaster, some dead were taken out, and one so badly injured that he died in fifteen minutes after being disengaged. The building was filled with Government stores, mostly oats in sacks.

With remarkable deliberation and coolness, a few persons were employed during the whole day yesterday in removing some of the grain-sacks, weighing them carefully, and removing also a little of the debris that appeared to be in the way of getting at the grain, without any apparent reference to the number of dying that might be there buried.

HOSPITAL REPORT.—The following is a report of General Hospital No. 10, in this city, from January 1st to May 31st, 1863.

PAYMASTERS FOR KENTUCKY.—A half dozen paymasters, Majors McDowell, Ballard, Craven, Kenon, Sevill and Walker, have come into Kentucky to pay off the Ninth (General Burnside's) army corps. They will pay two months' arrears, up to the first of May.

SOLDIER KILLED.—A member of the Eighth Michigan cavalry, whose name we were unable to learn, was shot and killed on Monday night, while the regiment was encamped near the Five Mile House, on the Lexington turnpike, near Covington.

A dividend of 12 per cent, has been declared by the Union Insurance Company of this city—4 per cent, of which will be paid on stock notes, and 8 per cent, to be paid to stockholders on and after the 10th.

MORE PRISONERS.—Twelve rebel prisoners including one officer from Morgan's command, who were captured beyond Somerset, Ky., were taken through this city yesterday to Camp Chase.

NEW YORK, June 3.

The steamer Persia, from Liverpool 23d and Queenstown 24th, arrived to-day. The steamer said Hooker's operations were preceded by more than the usual gasoline, and resulted as usual in a miserable failure. It suspects that Hooker was solicited, that Sedgwick's defeat was an opportune excuse for retreating. Leaving the wounded on the field clearly indicated something little less than a rout.

The Times sees no end to the war, but slow process of evolution, either of men or mechanism, will decide whether the war ends with the present year, or the close of Lincoln's term, or later.

The Daily News adds the campaign to the list of disasters, but points to Lee's inability to follow up the victory, and the fact that a foot more growth than before.

The Star thinks that an honest confession of the disaster would be more dignified on the part of Stanton than the statement that the retreat was made from prudential motives, and that there would be a speedy resumption of the offensive.

The Morning Post sees good reason why Lee should not follow up Hooker, but cannot understand why Hooker was allowed to retreat so far.

The party who was alleged to be a Federal recruiting agent to County Cork, turned out to be a swindler and had decamped.

Is announced that the cargoes of the ships Nona, a steamer, and Charles and Edmund, a bark, bound for the East Indies, destroyed by the Alabama, were shipped by and consigned to British subjects. The Government has been called upon to, and it is thought will, interfere.
